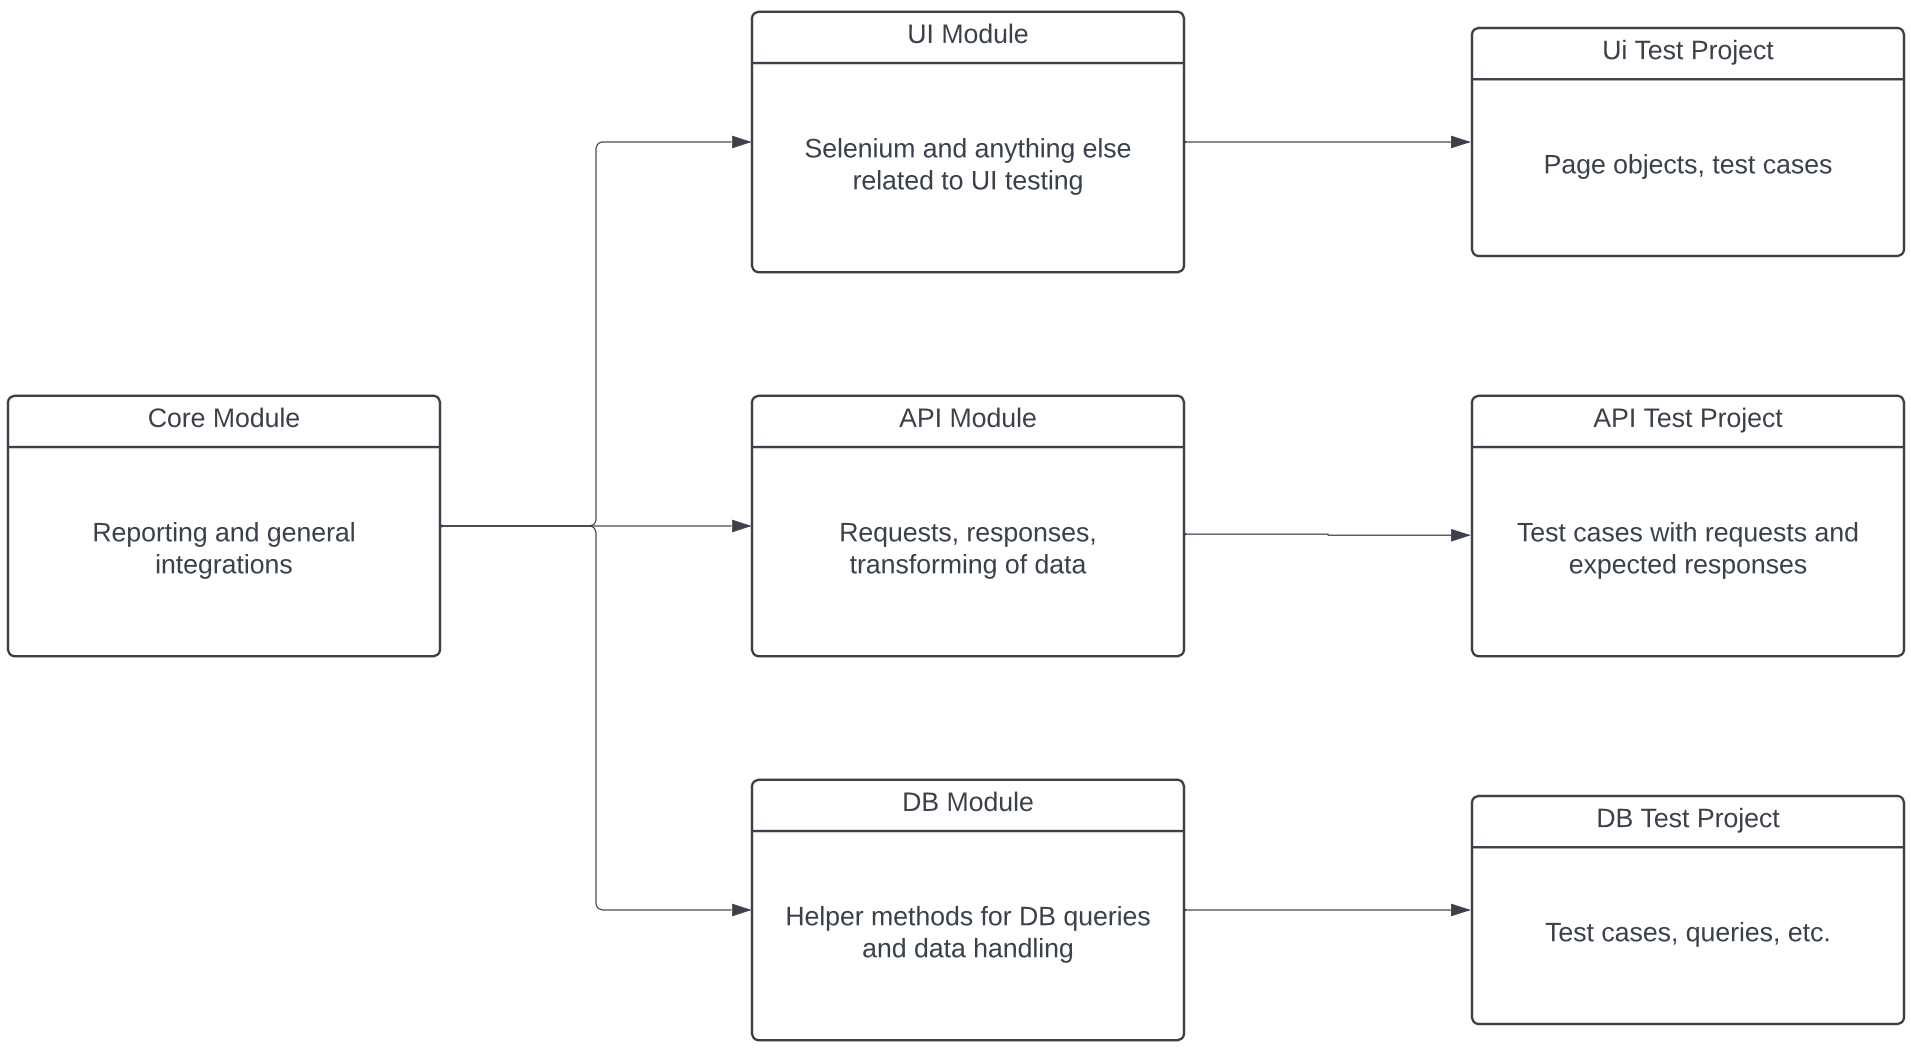
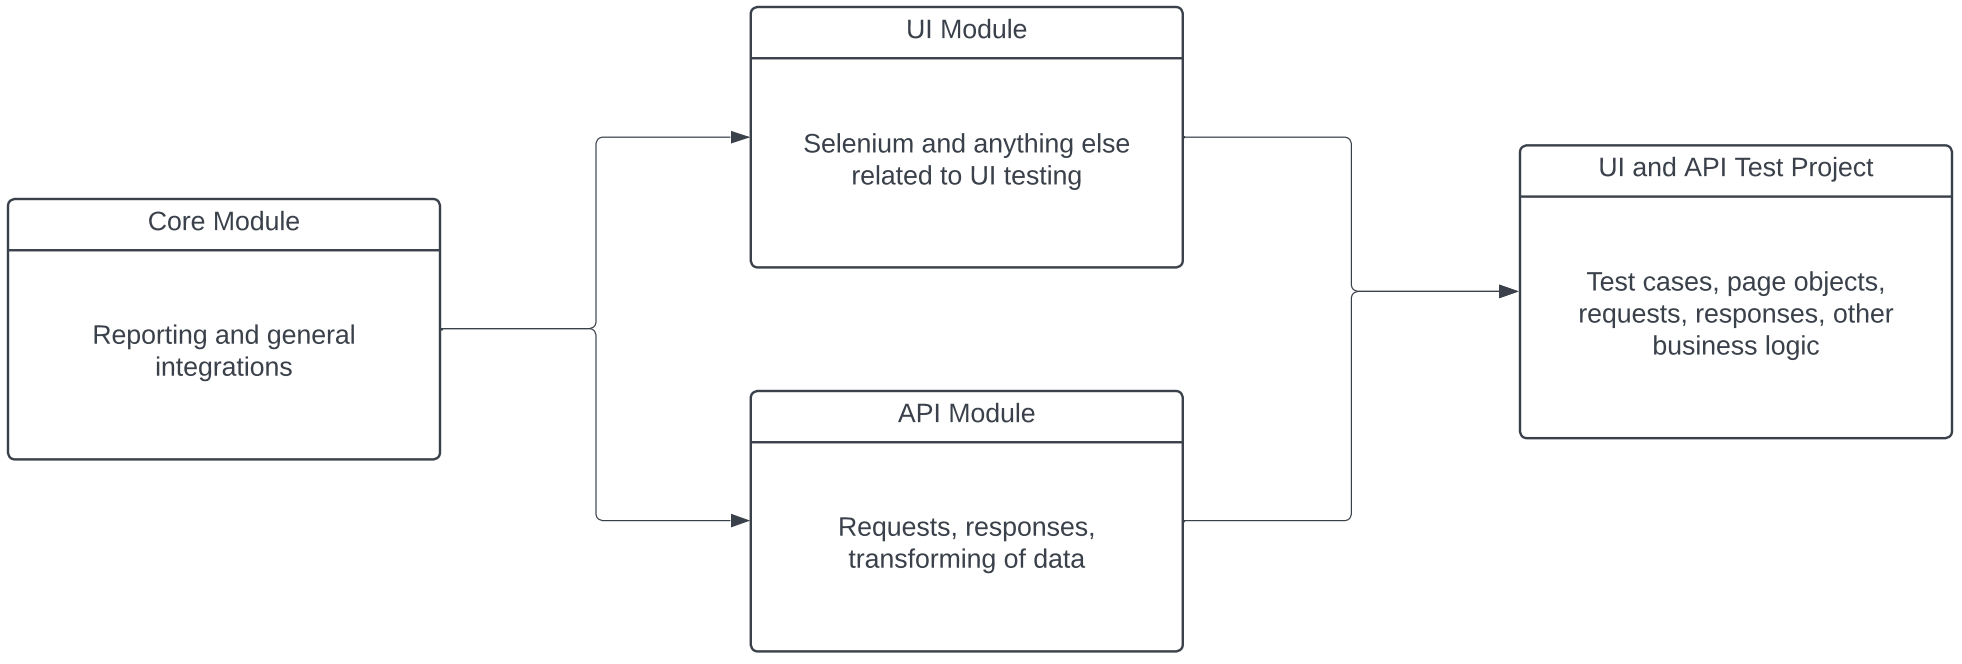
This would be where we know our project and future projects will need everything available

In this case we separate by target to make it cleaner for new projects generally focusing on specific areas of testing





We can always take the above design and pull in multiple modules for new projects